

Bachelor of Nursing - Māori (Level 7, 360 credits)

Programme Summary

Unification of Programmes

- The unified Nursing programmes are high-level, broad, and flexible which will enable regional responsiveness and facilitate tailored delivery to the local context, community needs, and tikanga. Teams at Te Pūkenga delivery sites will be able to continue to develop and codesign learning experiences with local iwi and hapū and community partners.
- There are three distinct programmes, which have the same structure (courses and credit distribution per year), to enable ākonga (learners) to move between programmes, if appropriate. There is similar content across each programme; however specific content and delivery of each programme will differ.
- The unified programmes have been developed to deliver on our aim of providing qualified and skilled Nurses who can meet the needs of Aotearoa New Zealand now and into the future.
- Te Pūkenga has a relentless focus on equity and ensuring participation for Māori, Pacific and disabled learners. Our unified programmes have been created to support this focus on equity.
- The Bachelor of Nursing – Māori has been developed and designed with contextualised Mātauranga Māori underpinned by an Ao Māori worldview. Ākonga will develop their nursing-specific knowledge and skills, whilst also deepening their understanding of, and strengthening their connection to, Te Ao Māori.

Te Pūkenga academic delivery innovation strategic direction is aimed at establishing a coherent portfolio of programmes that will support ākonga (learners), employers and industry to make informed decisions about future study and employment, and achieve a sustainable network of ongoing delivery.

Our strategy is informed by a number of key policy and legislative statements, including the functions and Charter of Te Pūkenga.

The unification process has been designed to employ a collaborative approach to redevelopment that will ensure the programme design meets Te Pūkenga Programme Development Excellence Framework, Whiria Te Pūkenga (Mātauranga Māori Framework), and can be delivered in line with Te Pūkenga Ako Framework.

The main goals of unification are:

- To work with providers within Te Pūkenga network to establish a single unifying programme from among those that already exists, with minor updates to be made to ensure the unified programme works for all (for example, all modes of delivery)¹.
- To develop in the context of a suite of programmes, rather than as isolated programmes, to ensure effective and streamlined learner pathways are maintained or enhanced.

In most cases the initial approach to unification is by transition to an agreed existing programme which will undergo minor changes to ensure that it is fit for purpose for continued delivery in a range of regions and delivery modes. Once existing providers have transitioned to a unified programme, a collaborative redevelopment approach to further improve the programme will be undertaken according to a scheduled programme of review over a five year period.

¹ All transition work will move us towards and occur with the future state of national curricula and skills standards in mind

In some cases a programme transformation development may be triggered. This involves a collaborative redevelopment of a new unifying programme for the network that works for all (e.g., includes all delivery modes). Transformation projects may be required according to the following:

- a significant change in a qualification (version change or replacement at levels 1 – 6 on the NZQF) that requires a new programme of study
- changes made by standards setting bodies which require a redevelopment of a programme leading to a qualification
- consolidation of multiple degree level qualifications into a single unified qualification and programme of learning
- an urgent need to redevelop a programme because of identified success and equity issues in the current offerings.

Bachelor of Nursing – Māori: A unified Te Pūkenga programme

The unified Bachelor of Nursing – Māori degree is a three year, 360 credit programme designed to deliver and meet Nursing Council of New Zealand (NCNZ) and NZQA requirements. Te Pūkenga has a relentless focus on equity and ensuring participation, in particular for Māori, Pacific and disabled learners and this unified programme development has been created with a desire to support this focus on equity. The Bachelor of Nursing – Māori is designed to deliver on our aim of providing qualified and skilled Nurses who can meet the needs of Aotearoa New Zealand now and into the future. All graduates from the Bachelor of Nursing – Māori programme will meet the NCNZ competencies and be able to sit the National State Exam.

The Bachelor of Nursing – Māori programme is designed to be high-level, broad and flexible, with a particular focus on enabling regional responsiveness to tailor to local community needs, including local tikanga, community groups (eg. Migrant, Refugee) and the relevant local context. Te Pūkenga network partners will retain regional and local relationships, including clinical placements partnerships.

Te Pūkenga kaimahi and kaiako will be closely connected as one network, meaning that they will be able to share best practice, learning and teaching resources and collectively ensure that the approach to delivery is fair, valid and consistent.

Process of Development

Throughout 2021 and 2022, Te Pūkenga worked collaboratively with network partners to unify multiple Nursing programmes into three programmes that meet New Zealand Qualifications Authority (NZQA) and Nursing Council of New Zealand (NCNZ) requirements.

Te Pūkenga steering and working groups were established in 2021 to lead, coordinate and undertake the programme unification. These groups included Nursing leaders, subject matter experts, curriculum developer/writers, and Mātauranga Māori and learning design experts.

Te Pūkenga also invited nominations for a series of reference groups with representatives from across the motu including ākonga, professional bodies and organisations, hapori community services user/advocacy groups, employers, workforce, those that use the services of our graduates, and Te Pūkenga kaimahi (staff). All reference groups had a particular focus on those who have historically been under-served by the education system, including Māori, Pacific, and disabled learners.

These reference and working groups co-designed ngā mātāpono (guiding concepts) that were applied during the development process for the unified nursing programmes. A series of wānanga with co-design facilitators took place with a focus on designing programmes that honour Te Tiriti and create equity. Ngā mātāpono then supported the development of the Graduate Profile Outcomes and subsequently, the themes and structure of the programmes.

Specialised working groups of Te Pūkenga kaimahi were then established to develop the detailed course descriptors, which have been collated and mapped together to form cohesive programmes. Careful consideration was also given to ensuring the programme met and aligned with NCNZ and NZQA requirements.

Transitioning to the new unified programme

The Bachelor of Nursing – Māori will commence Year 1 course delivery in 2023, subject to approval and accreditation. Year 2 course delivery will follow in 2024, with Year 3 following. All programmes currently offered in the network will cease new enrolments in 2023 and will be progressively phased out as the new programme is phased in.

This programme development enables all ākonga to enjoy the benefits of a unified programme that meets the requirements of the functions and Charter of Te Pūkenga.

The teams at Te Pūkenga delivery sites will retain regional and local relationships, including clinical placement partnerships. Placement arrangements will still be made by teams at Te Pūkenga delivery sites, working in partnership with their placement providers. There will be scope in future to work with Māori Health Authority and Health NZ to enhance management of clinical placements.

Ākonga will be enrolled locally, using each delivery site's enrolment, learning and support systems and services. Ākonga will continue to access the local support systems available at local Te Pūkenga delivery sites. As members of a broader network, Te Pūkenga ākonga will also have access to any new national support services.

Bachelor of Nursing - Māori, Bachelor of Nursing - Pacific, Bachelor of Nursing Graduate Profile
